

► Fluid & Elegant spaces

As a leader in luxury, Fiona Barratt Interiors prides itself on the attention to detail and personalised service that enhance the homes and lives of clients. Award-winning British designer and entrepreneur Fiona Barratt-Campbell established Fiona Barratt Interiors in 2006 and is increasingly recognised as one of Britain's leading figures in the international world of interior design.

Fiona, with over 16 years' of experience in the industry, was born and raised in Northumberland, England. She draws on the history of the rugged landscape in which she was immersed growing up, and is shaped and influenced by Northumberland's underlying geology. Roman influence is a further stimulus, including Hadrian's Wall and its archaeology. Design is embedded in Fiona's DNA. Her chief mentor and greatest inspiration was her grandfather, property developer Sir Lawrie Barratt, who founded one of the largest residential property development companies in the UK in 1958, Barratt Homes. These influences inspired her to establish her own successful interior design studio.

Fiona's silhouettes are bold and geometric and her finishes are intricate, with materials ranging from solid cast bronze and sandblasted wood to Brazilian fish skin. Her signature style blends sophisticated neutrals interlaced with bursts of accent colour, and although this more modern theme remains core to her interiors, she experiments with antiques, particularly 20th century pieces.

Her philosophy behind creating fluid and elegant spaces is born of an understanding of the aspirations of the client, the relevance of the location and maximization of the existing elements of the space. She develops these with imagination and vision. The result of this attention to detail is an interior that tells a story and, most importantly, an interior that reflects the client's individuality, to enhance, not dictate, the way they live.

Fiona's achievements include Wallpaper Magazine's Top 20 globally recognised Interior Designers and one of the UK's Top 100 Interior Designers listed by House & Garden Magazine. With projects spanning the globe, Fiona Barratt Interiors offers not only bespoke luxury interior design services, but custom-made furniture designs, through FBC London, and installs complete residential and commercial properties working with high-net-worth individuals.

Designing an interior is an art form and it's crucial to deliver this as a solid and engaging story with a narrative that is subtle. Fiona and her team ensure to live and immerse themselves in the experience throughout the design concept, from inception to completion.

Opposite, top ►

Impressive grade II listed Georgian country family house with a modern, integrative, bespoke family style kitchen featuring a handcrafted La Cornue cooking range and island.

Opposite, middle ►

A full redevelopment in Moscow, the master bathroom has old world depth to the design through artwork and antiques, with a preference for 20th century pieces. A large selection of luxury accessories along with curated works of art by a collection of inspiring creatives.

Opposite, below ►

Grade II listed private English family home in Harrogate, North Yorkshire. A floating mezzanine level was incorporated within the interior architectural design.

Below, left ►

A luxury coastal residence in the Balearic Islands, Fiona Barratt Interiors created the ultimate bespoke villa. Silk carpets, specialist wall finishes, antique brass and bronze details, bespoke lighting, furniture, specialist artwork and accessories add an essence of exceptional luxury and individuality.

Below, left ►

'Curated Design' featured in the 'Living Room' of the inaugural Holiday House London. A beautifully designed space that showcases the unique style and textures that encapsulate furniture brand, FBC London.

Fiona Barratt Interiors